

Athletes of the Week

January 6 -11, 2020

1. Boys' Basketball-

Saivon Pressley

Saivon's play was critical in the Rams' 2 wins last week, as he tallied 25 points on Monday and 23 on Friday. His aggressive style of defense has led to many steals, triggering a host of fast-break points for the Rams.

Athletes of the Week January 6 -11, 2020

2. Swimming- Giselle Lee

Though only in her freshman year, Giselle is the second highest scorer on the Varsity Swimming Team for the 2019 - 2020 season. She has competed in the maximum number of events in every meet - both individual and relays - and she has earned either first or second place in every race. Giselle has also swum in nearly all events this season, and she serves as a consistent role model to her teammates.

Middle School Athletes of the Week

January 7 - 10, 2020

1. Boys' Basketball- Justin Lustgarten

Justin was a true bright spot in the Rams' loss at Green Brook. Regardless of the score, he continued to play hard, winding up with 11 points, including three 3-pointers. Justin also handles much of the Gold team's ball-handling responsibilities, and is growing in basketball intelligence every game.

Middle School Athletes of the Week

January 7 - 10, 2020

2. Girls' Basketball- Hannah Yin

The first thing any observer of Ram Basketball notices is the impact Hannah has on the other team as a defender. With her long wing-span and great hustle, she blocks a lot of passing lanes. She practices hard every day, and has improved her offensive skills every year.

Quote of the Week:

“Having a quarterback like that who is a true competitor rubs off on the team”

LSU teammate discussing the impact of Joe Burrows, Heisman

Trophy winner, on the 14-0 national champions.

